Dear Patriot,

I am grateful for your continued financial support to Tea Party Patriots, and for our efforts to win the White House, save the Senate, and protect the Supreme Court – all of which, thanks to your generous donations, we were able to accomplish, stunning both the Washington Establishment and the media.

With the excitement and celebration of our victory, I wanted to send you this post-election report to share all we did to make the 2016 March to Victory a true success. We are proud to announce that, from October 1st to election day, our March to Victory program, we made 2 million volunteer phone calls, knocked on 100,000 doors, made 6.5 million robo-calls, engaged more than 100,000 activists, and mailed more than 100,000 pieces of volunteer mail (personal letters and postcards).

But, even as we celebrate these victories, we know that we have a lot of hard work in the new year. As we head into 2017, our agenda includes holding Washington, D.C. accountable so we can repeal Obamacare, balance the budget, and ensure that a true conservative will be nominated and confirmed to fill Justice Scalia’s seat on the Supreme Court. It’s an ambitious agenda, but together, I know we can accomplish it and once again force the media, the intolerant left, and all of the naysayers to take notice.

As you review the enclosed report, I hope you will be as proud as I am of all that we managed to accomplish this year. The March to Victory program’s successes exceeded even my wildest expectations, and I am excited to hear your feedback and thoughts after you take a look at this report.

Please feel free to contact Teresa Dailey, our Major Donor Specialist, about our upcoming inaugural events and fundraising opportunities. Many of you have met her along the March to Victory. She shares our principles and will assist in fulfilling all our fundraising goals.

Thank you again for your continued support, and I look forward to hearing from you!

In liberty,

Jenny Beth Martin

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

On September 1, 2016, Tea Party Patriots Citizens Fund launched our March to Victory Project with the following goals:

1. Win the White House for the Republican nominee Donald Trump by specifically winning the states of Pennsylvania, Florida, Ohio, and North Carolina

2. Retain the Republican majority in the United States Senate and House of Representatives by helping our endorsed candidates win their elections

3. Preserve the legacy of Justice Antonin Scalia on the Supreme Court

By Election Night, November 8, 2016, Tea Party Patriots Citizens Fund achieved these goals by activating our network of over 3 million supporters, donors, volunteers, and activists who:

- Made over 2,000,000 volunteer phone calls into PA, FL, OH, and NC alone
- Knocked on over 100,000 doors in PA, FL, OH, NC, and CA
- Delivered over 100,000 hand written letters and post cards to voters in PA
- Placed over 6,700,000 robo calls and robo quiz calls in support of Donald Trump
- Delivered over 500,000 traditional political mail pieces in support of Donald Trump
Tea Party Patriots Citizens Fund began engaging in the 2016 Presidential Campaign in August of 2015 when we began to poll our network of over 3 million people on whether we should make an endorsement in the race. Any endorsement we make must receive approval from the appropriate segment of our grassroots network. For example, in a Congressional race, our supporters in that specific district must approve and likewise in the Senate our supporters in that state get to decide. For the Presidential race, we wanted to get it right, so we required a super majority of support for a single candidate in order to make an endorsement.

In January, we launched our presidential endorsement survey, which consisted of four rounds of balloting. We started with all 17 candidates in the first round, cut to eight candidates in round 2, cut to four in round 3, and cut to a final two, Senator Ted Cruz and Donald Trump, in the final round.

Ultimately, our supporters chose to endorse Senator Cruz with 70% of the vote, and in late January, just before the Iowa Caucuses, we made a formal endorsement. From that point until the day Senator Cruz dropped out, our focus was on helping him win the primary.

When Senator Cruz dropped out of the race in early May, we immediately turned our full attention to our ongoing activities to defeat Hillary Clinton. Throughout the summer, we raised awareness of Hillary Clinton’s record as Secretary of State, her conflicts of interest in relation to the Clinton Family Foundation, and her dishonesty throughout the scandal surrounding her exclusive use of a personal, non-secure Blackberry. We educated voters through social media, our widely popular weekly newsletters, and a cutting-edge digital ad that showcases Hillary Clinton’s disastrous record of incompetence as Secretary of State.

As summer drew to a close and as the General Election approached, we again surveyed our supporters to hear their thoughts about endorsing Donald Trump. The response was overwhelmingly in favor of making an endorsement for Donald Trump so we could effectively stop Hillary Clinton from becoming president.

On September 1, 2016, we launched our March to Victory Campaign with the goals of winning the White House – with heavy focus on Pennsylvania, Florida, Ohio, and North Carolina – retaining Republican control in the US Senate and House of Representatives, and preserving the legacy of the late Justice Antonin Scalia.

Finally, on September 22, 2016, we were able to make a formal endorsement of Donald Trump, and at that time we were running on all cylinders to achieve our goals.
WHAT WE ACCOMPLISHED

Through the course of our March to Victory Campaign we mobilized over 100,000 volunteers, who engaged to:

Make over 2,000,000 phone calls into PA, FL, OH, and NC
Volunteers from all 50 states stepped up to help us achieve our goal of connecting with over 1 million voters in the four key states. While most of the calls were made by a group of about 6,000 volunteers, we were able to vastly expand our volunteer engagement through a different kind of email campaign. In an effort to expand our phone volunteers, we sent a proactive email to our network that included contact information for three voters in one of the key states with a challenge to each supporter in our network to contact those voters. As a result of these emails, more than 90,000 of our supporters took action. In addition, we had 20 activists from around the country who stepped up to host phone banking parties where multiple people showed up in the same location to make phone calls to voters. We provided the voter data and helped promote these events.

Knock on over 100,000 doors in PA, FL, OH, NC, and CA
Our ground game was focused heavily on Pennsylvania, where our biggest operation took place. Volunteers and paid activists knocked on more than 50,000 doors from mid-September through Election Day alone. The rest of our ground game was strictly volunteer driven in FL, OH, NC, and CA, where we supplied the voter data and other resources these activists needed to help get out the vote for Donald Trump and the rest of our endorsed candidates.

Deliver over 100,000 hand-written letters and postcards
In October, in an effort to expand and multiply our reach, we encouraged supporters who may have been too shy to participate in phone banking or walking door-to-door to instead commit to writing at least 20 handwritten letters to voters in the four swing states. We also employed a proactive email campaign to each supporter in our network, challenging them to commit to writing letters to three assigned voters. A handful of other activists asked us to provide them with postcards so they could host parties to write postcards to voters. Altogether, this campaign generated more than 100,000 hand-written letters and postcards to voters in the four key states. The response to this volunteer opportunity was overwhelmingly positive and well-received. We will use this again in the future and earlier in the cycle to increase the amount of mail and allow more time for the volunteers to participate.
WHAT WE ACCOMPLISHED

In addition to our volunteer engagement, we utilized technology and traditional campaign communications to reach additional voters:

Data modeling to identify likely-Trump voters
In September, we contracted the services of a firm to help us create a data model of likely Trump voters and used that model to build a universe of targeted voters in PA, FL, OH, and NC. We used this data in every aspect of our campaign from the phone calls, to the ground game, to targeting a specific segment of voters on social media.

Direct Marketing on Social Media
In the final week of the campaign we were able to reach nearly 746,000 out of 1.2 million micro-targeted voters in Pennsylvania with a powerful anti-Hillary campaign ad that we created. We reached an additional 433,000 likely Trump voters in FL, OH, and NC with our Trump endorsement video. In total, we reached nearly 1.18 million voters at a cost of just $0.08 per view.

Robo Quiz and Robo Calls to help identify voters and help get out the vote
Over the course of the March to Victory campaign we deployed over 6.7 million RoboQuiz calls and robo calls to help get out the vote.

Our use of the RoboQuiz format – where, rather than an aggressive message, the call recipient is quizzed on a number of salient issues, and then given the correct answers – is unique among grassroots groups. Because the call recipient is prompted to become an active and engaged listener, it yields far higher capture ratios and, consequently, much better message retention.

RoboQuiz calls were deployed to targeted voters on behalf of Donald Trump in FL, NC, and PA; on behalf of Sen. Pat Toomey in PA; and on behalf of Sen. Marco Rubio in FL.

In addition, we deployed a call recorded by Steve Ronnebeck, who lost his son Grant to an illegal immigrant who shot and killed him in a convenience store over a pack of cigarettes. The call was deployed to targeted voters in PA, FL, NC, OH, and WI.

Finally, we deployed a call recorded by TPPCF Chairman Jenny Beth Martin to targeted voters in PA, FL, NC, OH, and WI.

Direct Mail Marketing
In total, we sent over 500,000 pieces of direct mail in the form of direct appeals to vote for Donald Trump and against Hillary Clinton, as well as post cards that included heavy imagery of the failures of Hillary Clinton as secretary of state and the promise of change that came with a Donald Trump presidency.
At the start of our March to Victory Campaign, we knew that we would need to focus on the four key states of Pennsylvania, Florida, Ohio, and North Carolina. We knew that if Donald Trump could hold the states that Mitt Romney won in 2012, add Florida, Ohio, and one more – Pennsylvania – that he would have the votes he needed to achieve victory on Election Day.

Pennsylvania was the highest priority in our campaign because we knew that it would be the most difficult for Trump to win. As the election results below show, you can see that Pennsylvania was the closest of the four contests. Without our multiple contact of over 1.4 million voters in Pennsylvania, there is a good chance that Trump would not have won there, which would have made his path to winning the White House much more narrow.

Why we are calling

Donald Trump must win all the states won by Mitt Romney in the 2012 Election.

In 2012, Obama won PA by 309,804 votes.

(\frac{309,804}{2}) + 1 = 160,000\]

To ensure victory we must get an additional 160,000 to 200,000 votes for Trump.

Other organizations use TV, radio and internet – we’re focusing on direct person-to-person activism.

Studies have proven the effectiveness of voter-to-voter calls.

With 1,000,000 phone calls we can secure the 160,000 to 200,000 votes needed to win Pennsylvania – a crucial step closer to Conservative victory!

We did the math and came up with a plan.

How can we keep Hillary Clinton out of the Oval Office? We did the math and came up with a plan.

In 2012, Obama won PA by 309,804 votes.

(\frac{309,804}{2}) + 1 = 160,000\]

To ensure victory we must get an additional 160,000 to 200,000 votes for Trump.

Pennsylvania the most challenging, so that’s our highest priority.

To ensure victory we must get an additional 160,000 to 200,000 votes for Trump.

This week, we are wrapping up our robocall and robocalls to voters in Pennsylvania, Ohio, North Carolina, Florida, and Wisconsin. In total, we have deployed more than 6.5 million robocalls and traditional robocalls.

In addition to the volunteer phone calls, we have made a significant impact with personalized letters and postcards. To date, we have mailed letters and postcards to more than 100,000 voters in Pennsylvania. In Pennsylvania, several of our activists also organized multiple postcard parties, where volunteers could work together to write out personal messages to voters across the state.

Over the past two months, we have also knocked on close to 100,000 doors in Florida, North Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and California.

For everyone across the country who is participating in a sign-waving event this weekend, thank you! We have seen over the past four years just how effect a simple sign message can be, and we have had thousands of volunteers over the years organize sign-waving parties and events at busy intersections. Volunteers are already signed up to wave signs all across the country during rush hour between today and Tuesday afternoon.

The most exciting aspect of all of this volunteer-driven engagement is that we are a true grassroots organization. Our entire Get Out The Vote (GOTV) effort is fueled by grassroots energy and enthusiasm - and after visiting 11 states over the past several days, I can tell you that we have an abundance of both energy and enthusiasm, and we are making a difference this cycle!

Thank you for everything you are doing to win on Election Day! Let’s not stop now. Keep up the hard work, and please let us know how you are engaging over the next six days and how we can help support your efforts.

In liberty,

Jenny Beth Martin

Chairman
Thank you for taking our post-debate survey this week and volunteering to help with our phone banking efforts to elect true conservatives. We are now shifting all of our attention to the presidential race, and we know you are as committed as we are to electing Donald Trump and stopping Hillary Clinton from winning in November. Thank you for joining this effort!

We have volunteers across the country already making phone calls into Pennsylvania, which is a “must-win” state for Donald Trump. We are confident that with our grassroots army of volunteers, we can help Donald Trump win in Pennsylvania and Florida and become the next President of the United States. But, in order to deliver this victory, we need all hands on deck, and that is why we are so thankful you have stepped up and offered to volunteer.

We are sending this phone banking packet today and asking you to make calls into Pennsylvania and/or Florida.

Attached to this email, you will find the following items:

- Names and phone numbers of 500 voters in Pennsylvania. (Don’t worry if you can’t call all of them, but if you can it is only 100 per week – or less if you get friends to help.)
- Detailed instructions for phone banking.
- A call script and flow chart to help guide your conversation.

The stakes in this election simply could not be any higher. Hillary Clinton has a thirty-year track record of failures and deception. As Secretary of State, Hillary Clinton routinely flouted the law, compromised our national security, and refused to follow the State Department’s rules governing classified information. Is this the type of person we want in the White House? Do you really want to say President Clinton for the next four years? We at Tea Party Patriots Citizens Fund certainly do not, and we are doing all we can to help defeat her. You are helping us reach undecided voters in two of the most important swing states, and we cannot thank you enough!

Donald Trump, unlike Hillary Clinton, has pledged to uphold the 2nd Amendment, repeal Obamacare, and nominate conservative Supreme Court justices. We recently endorsed Donald Trump for President and we are looking forward to helping him win in both Pennsylvania and Florida!

If you have any questions or need any assistance throughout this effort, please feel free to contact Linda Parker at Tea Party Patriots Citizens Fund. Her cell phone number is 770-318-6528 and she will be happy to help you with any questions. You may also email us at MarchtoVictory@CitizensFund.com.

Dear [INSERT VOTER’S FIRST NAME],

As a fellow American and a fellow voter, I need your help. The 2016 presidential election is arguably the most important election of our lifetime. Eight years of President Barack Obama’s failed leadership, we have the opportunity to reverse the consequences of Obama’s presidency – and they are the very real consequences of Democrats’ policies.

Worse, Hillary Clinton has promised to expand on many of President Obama’s policies. She will push for ever more amnesty for illegal immigrants, will promote policies that kill jobs and hurt our economy. Quite simply, America cannot afford a third term of these failed policies.

Fortunately, there is an alternative. Donald Trump has promised to stop the massive illegal immigration problem facing our country. He has promised to generate economic growth and new jobs, and he will be on the side of America’s working-class families.

On Election Day, we each have a very simple choice: Hillary Clinton, who has promised to recycle the Left’s failed policies, or Donald Trump, who will put an end to “business as usual” in Washington, D.C. For me, the choice is simple, and that is why I am voting for Donald Trump. Please join me on Tuesday, November 8th. Make a plan to be a voter for Donald Trump and help America get back on the right track.

In liberty,

LETTER WRITING

Patriot-

You have no doubt heard the Left’s narrative this week that the election results are a foregone conclusion: Hillary Clinton is going to win and the Democrats are taking back the Senate. The Left hopes to depress conservative turnout on Election Day with this message. The simple reality, however, is that Donald Trump remains competitive even in Democrat-stronghold states and the “vulnerable” Republican Senators are consistently polling ahead of their Democratic challengers.

I am writing today with an unusual - but fun! - request. Will you write three letters to voters in swing states? We have made this process extremely easy for you. All you will need to do is start with our sample letter:

You can handwrite the letter or type it - the choice is entirely up to you. Then, send it to the names and addresses of these three target voters:

1. Carrol Templeton
   130 Coffers Ln
   Reading, PA 19606

2. Mike Hartwig
   1935 Piper Rd
   Reading, PA 19606

3. Miranda Rodriguez
   2048 Magnolia Creek Rd
   Reading, PA 19606

Finally, let us know you have sent the letters.

In the age of robo-calls and social media, these personal letter-to-voter letters will stand out and will provide an important contact with Republican voters in the “must-win” states of Pennsylvania, Florida, Ohio, and North Carolina.

The election is fast approaching and our team is encouraged by everything we are seeing and hearing across the country. I have been traveling in eight states this week and I can’t even begin to express how proud I am of this movement, our volunteers, and all that we are accomplishing this cycle to elect conservatives, defeat Hillary Clinton, help Donald Trump win, and protect the Supreme Court.

We have been making volunteer calls for the past several months, and I am confident that these letters will be an excellent complement to our overall Get Out The Vote (GOTV) strategy. Can I count on you to write three letters?

Thank you for everything you are doing to help us win on Election Day!

Patriot-

The polls are now beginning to show what we have predicted for the past few months - Donald Trump is neck-and-neck in the polls with Hillary Clinton. The bottom line is that the more people learn about Hillary Clinton’s record, the less comfortable they are with the idea of her becoming president. Our messaging and voter-to-voter contacts have helped persuade undecided voters in the swing states, and we are beginning to see the fruits of our labors. So, first of all, thank you to everyone who has volunteered over the past several months!

Will you help us continue the momentum and ensure that Hillary Clinton will not be our next president? Do you have 1, 2, or 3 hours to help us turn out the vote?

If you have 1 hour to volunteer, please call these voters below today between the hours of 3:00 and 8:30 pm eastern.

1. Christopher Weatherby
   (970) 314-9325

2. Richard Michaels

If you have 2 hours to volunteer, please call the voters listed above and make a sign to wave for 1 hour Monday evening between 5:00 and 6:00 pm local time.

If you have 3 hours to volunteer, please call the voters listed above and wave a sign for one hour on Monday afternoon and Tuesday morning.

Waving a sign at a busy street corner is a simple and effective way to reach voters and we have demonstrated success with this voter outreach method over the past four years in every state.

WAVE SIGNS

This election is going to come down to voter turnout and that means every contact we make in the next 72 hours matters.

I have traveled across 16 states plus the District of Columbia in the past two weeks and everywhere I go, I am reminded that the enthusiasm and momentum are on our side. The overwhelming majority of bumper stickers and yard signs I saw during my travels were for Donald Trump.

Our support team is ready to help you with any questions you have. You can reach us at MarchtoVictory@citizensfund.com.

Thank you for all of your efforts in these final hours leading up to the election.

In liberty,

Simply put, America cannot afford a Hillary Clinton presidency.

On the personal front, she is the least honest and trustworthy candidate for president nominated by her party since the advent of public opinion polling. She is, in the unforgettable words of a former Tea Party member, a “[l]awyer who lies.”

Our thinking is simple: Hillary Clinton stands opposed to everything the Tea Party stands for.

On the policy front, Hillary Clinton believes more government is the answer to every public policy problem. She takes the same dim view of the Constitution’s limits on government (and, specifically, the executive taken by the current president. She supports President Obama’s disastrous nuclear deal with Iran, too, worries about him as a point of comparison, and wants to increase President Obama’s time for accepting Syrian refugees by more than 50 percent. And while we don’t know who would be the liberal extremists she would try to shaft through a Democrat-controlled Senate to put on the federal bench, we know they would be extreme and out of touch with constitutionally limited government.

On the personal front, she’s the last honest and trustworthy candidate for presidential nominated by her party since the advent of public opinion polling. She is, in the unforgettable words of a former White House senior advisor, a “[s]ubversive force” as prone to do little things as big as lying about many of which contained classified information, and her leaks revolve about it, and is still lying about it.

Simply put, America cannot afford a Hillary Clinton presidency.

Our unique endorsement process kicked off in January of this year and consisted of multiple rounds of polling, in which our members and supporters cast more than 100,000 ballots. Throughout the presidential nominating process, our members and supporters were more than three million strong. Until we can get our leveraged scale, they don’t want Hillary Clinton to be president and that they want candidates who are for limited government.

Advice for Donald Trump: Hit Obama

By Jenny Beth Martin

Saturday, October 9, 2016

In his Tuesday night debate with Tim Kaine, GOP vice-presidential nominee Mike Pence borrowed a classic line from Ronald Reagan used to devastating effect in his one and only debate against Jimmy Carter: “Are you better off?” As GOP presidential nominee Donald Trump prepares for his Sunday evening debate with Hillary Clinton, he would do well to echo President Reagan and use a different line from Reagan: “Are you better off than you were eight years ago?”

By any objective standard, the great majority of Americans will answer that question with a resounding “No.” Their incomes have stagnated or even fallen, even as prices have gone up. Their control over their healthcare, as well as the quality of the healthcare they receive, has been diminished, even as the prices they pay for insurance, and deductibles, and co-pays, have all gone up - despite the Obama Administration’s promises that premiums would actually go down by $2,500 per family per year. Threats to their physical safety and security, brought about by radicals seeking to impose their radical views, have increased, even as the Obama Administration tries to downplay its national security failures and stubbornly refuses to use the term “radical Islam.”

Is it any wonder the fabled “right track/wrong direction” number is where it is today, with 64 percent ofsurvey respondents saying the country is going in the wrong direction, compared to just 35 percent who say it’s on the right track in the latest Reuters/Ipsos poll?

And therein lies the opening for Trump: he is the agent of change, while Hillary Clinton represents more of the same.

Consider:

- In January 2009, when Barack Obama took office, the labor force participation rate was 66.7 percent. As of August 2016, the latest month for which statistics are available, that number is 62.8 percent - almost a three-percentage-point drop, and near the lowest level since the 1970s.
- Perhaps worse, that number has fallen steadily every year President Obama has been in office.

Because the “official” unemployment statistics only reflect the percentage of people who cannot find work among those still actively seeking employment, they miss those millions who have given up hope and stopped looking. So take the labor force participation rate as a better barometer - and it shows clearly that there are fewer and fewer workers participating in the American economy.

When President Obama took office in January 2009, 91,200,000 Americans were not participating in the labor force. Since then, more than 16 million more Americans have left the work force. As of June 2016, a record 94,708,000 Americans - almost one third of our population - are not in the labor force.

Do you think they believe they are better off than they were eight years ago? Doubtful.

But the labor force participation rate doesn’t just negatively impact those who have given up hope of finding work. That missing work means the rest of us must pay higher taxes, and pay more out in terms of government social welfare programs. So even those who DO have a job are hurt by such a low labor force participation rate.

Or consider the national debt, which reached more than $16 trillion earlier this year - for the first time ever. It took our nation 230 years to accumulate $10 trillion in debt, but less than eight years to accumulate $16 trillion.

Of course, a number that high is so large it’s virtually incomprehensible. So, instead, look at it in individual terms - every man, woman, and child in America today owes more than $50,000.

With a doubling of the national debt during the Obama years, again, it’s easy to see why almost two-thirds of the country believes we’re headed in the wrong direction.

Since the inception of Barack Obama’s presidency, in fact, a majority of the nation’s voters have believed the country to be on the wrong track.

And yet, the Democratic Party has been sitting idly by while our nation’s future is at stake.

We are taking action. We have launched our March to Victory to mobilize our grassroots and get out the vote in key states, with the goal of helping to defeat Hillary Clinton and maintain control of the Senate.

An endorsement, by itself, is not enough. We are not sitting idly by while our nation’s future is at stake. We are taking action. We have launched our March to Victory to mobilize our grassroots and get out the vote in key states, with the goal of helping to defeat Hillary Clinton and maintain control of the Senate.

And remember, at the time – the spring of 2013 – no one was worried about a challenge from Bernie Sanders. No, in the spring of 2013, it was the anti-Wall Street Senator Elizabeth Warren (D-Occupy), who was considered the strongest potential challenger to a Clinton coronation.

One month later, speaking to Latin American bankers at the Brazilian Banco Itau, Clinton went even further, and unloaded this daisy:

“My dream is a hemispheric common market, with open trade and open borders, sometime in the future with energy that’s as green and sustainable as we can get it, powering growth and opportunity for every person in the hemisphere.”

“Open trade and open borders?” In her own words?

Is it any wonder her campaign refused to release transcripts of her well-paid speeches to Wall Street groups?

Can you imagine the impact of those words would have had in the Democratic nominating contest, if Bernie Sanders had but had them to use against her?

These revelations, sadly, fit a career-long pattern of lying – not just about private sexual matters, but about big public policy issues that have the ability to affect Americans of all walks of life. Saying one thing in private and another thing in public leads to a deepened split between the governing class and the governed. And open trade and open borders would harness the destruction of our manufacturing base and move us even further in the direction of an all-service economy, even as we give up, once and for all, our national sovereignty and, more importantly, our ability to determine who may and who may not enter our nation, thereby raising threats of terrorism to new heights.

Is it any wonder her campaign refused to release transcripts of her well-paid speeches to Wall Street groups?

The question now is, will the Trump campaign be able to capitalize on these revelations?

Can there be any better proof that Obamacare was always meant to gouge the consumer even as it benefited the health insurance companies? Is it any wonder why the health insurance companies – whom many initially (and wrongly) assumed would oppose the new law – have instead become its most ardent defenders and supporters?

When Obamacare was first proposed in 2009, 85 percent of the people in America had health insurance. By 2015, 5 percent of those with health insurance were happy with their health insurance. Hillary Clinton’s ongoing email scandal is an important reminder to voters that she suffers from the Washington mindset that laws simply do not apply to the ruling elite. Her flagrant disregard for the rule of law - whether in our immigration system, or in increased accountability with the IRS and out-of-control federal bureaucracy.

Although the words “status quo” will not appear on any ballots this election cycle, voters will nonetheless be forced to make the binary decision between doubling down on the status quo by voting for Hillary Clinton, or pivoting toward meaningful change and a course correction for the country by voting for Donald Trump. There is a foundational disconnect between Washington, DC and the rest of America. Washington, DC operates on a different plain - with its own special rules and carve-out exemptions and backroom deals. Many in Washington believe that the rules and laws crafted in DC ought not apply to the people who occupy the well-connected inner circles of the Washington Establishment. This pervasive mindset - it’s a pathology, really - in Washington, DC is what accounts for the fact that everyday Americans are struggling to live under Obamacare and comply with its oppressive rules and regulations while Congress enjoys a special exemption from the law. It also explains the years-long IRS scandal, in which government employees engaged in an insidious and unconstitutional targeting of American citizens based on their political beliefs. And, to date, no one has been held accountable for the IRS’s extraordinary abuse of power.

Washington, DC is a city, after all; that sees nothing amiss with the fact that lying under oath, committing perjury, and tampering with evidence in criminal investigations are serious offenses in the rest of the country, but are so commonplace in DC, they hardly warrant a slap on the wrist. Put simply, Washington, DC habitually makes a mockery of the rule of law. And Hillary Clinton is a product of, a beneficiary of, and, apparently, an estate student of the entire broken system that dominates in our nation’s capital. She isn’t merely a part of the Washington Establishment, she is the Washington Establishment.

Hillary Clinton’s presidency would dangerously combine her personal penchant for disregarding the law with Barack Obama’s failed policies of the past eight years - a prospect that voters should carefully weigh before voting next Tuesday. In stark contrast to Hillary Clinton is Donald Trump, who has never been a career politician. Trump’s campaign, when boiled down to its bare essentials, is about one thing only – disrupting the status quo and challenging the Washington Establishment. Donald Trump offers the opportunity for a national course correction and for renewed commitment to the rule of law - whether in our immigration system, or in increased accountability with the IRS and out-of-control federal bureaucracy.

America’s disassociation with the ho-hum economy and the Left’s obsession on government as the solution to every problem would do well to vote for Donald Trump and help usher in a new era in Washington, DC – one in which the Washington Establishment is held accountable to voters.

Oppose Obamacare? Vote Trump

Hillary Clinton wants to double down

By Jenny Beth Martin - Friday, October 28, 2016

To repeal Obamacare, Trump must win.

It’s just that simple. Seriously. Repeat that like a mantra as you make a plan to go to the polls.

If you want to rid yourselves of the odious law known as Obamacare, your only option is to vote for Donald Trump. He alone has promised to repeal it, and a Republican House and Senate will put that bill on his desk.

Hillary Clinton, by contrast, has promised to double down on Obamacare, and supports moving even further left, to the so-called “single-payer” option (read: full government takeover).

Consequently, a Clinton victory will likely see the end of GOP attempts to repeal the law. There is no more obvious, compelling, and consequential contrast between the two candidates, regarding the likely policy outcomes of their respective individual victories.

A vote for Hillary is a vote to retain and even expand Obamacare. A vote for Trump is a vote to repeal and replace Obamacare.

Healthcare premiums are rising – in some states (are you listening, Arizonans?), projections are more than double in just one year – even as health insurance provider profits are going through the roof.

Is it any wonder the Real Clear Politics average shows that a majority of the country wants this law repealed... and consistently has wanted it repealed since it was first enacted more than six years ago?

Consider:

Even as the Obama Administration revealed earlier this week that health insurance premiums in the Obamacare exchanges will rise by an average 25 percent next year, we learned from this piece in The Weekly Standard that health insurance company profits have virtually doubled since Barack Obama became President Obama.

Can there be any better proof that Obamacare was always meant to gouge the consumer even as it benefited the health insurance companies? Is it any wonder why the health insurance companies – whom many initially (and wrongly) assumed would oppose the new law – have instead become its most ardent defenders and supporters?

When Obamacare was first proposed in 2009, 85 percent of the people in America had health insurance. By 2015, 5 percent of those with health insurance were happy with their health insurance. Is it any wonder why the health insurance companies – whom many initially (and wrongly) assumed would oppose the new law – have instead become its most ardent defenders and supporters?

When Obamacare was first proposed in 2009, 85 percent of the people in America had health insurance. By 2015, 5 percent of those with health insurance were happy with their health insurance. Do the math, and you’ll find that roughly 70 percent of the country were satisfied with their health insurance.

Their health care concerns were largely two-fold: first, that their health care costs were rising faster than inflation, and, second, that they might lose their health care.

Along come Obamacare, which did nothing to address either of these two major concerns of more than two-thirds of the country. Instead, it aimed to cut the percentage of uninsured by a third – from 15 percent to 10 percent – and did so by imposing massive increases, massive spending increases, a fivewave individual government mandate to purchase a service or pay a fine, massive Medicare cuts, and massive changes to how people get their health care delivered.

Six years in, the enormity of the disaster grows every day. Millions of people who threw off the health care plans they had, with doctors they knew and liked, and millions of others shuttled into a Medicaid system studies show is no better than, and can actually have worse consequences than, having no insurance at all.

But at least the health insurance companies are making out. During a period where the median household income actually fell (from $57,899 in November 2008 to $57,380 as August, 2016), the profits of the ten biggest American health insurance companies rose from $8 billion in 2008 to $15 billion in 2015.

Trump is right, certainly in this case. The system is rigged. If you’re a powerful health insurance company, you can use government to give your customers handout (and your profits) by grasping the skills for a new law that actually uses the coercive power of government (for the first time ever) to require you to purchase their product under penalty of law.

And if you’re just a lonely consumer, get ready to make it on the rise.

Send a message on no. Use your vote for Donald Trump to let the Washington Establishment know you’re not going to take it any more. Drain the swamp!
